Torrance People Are Interested In Big Festival

International Pageant Aimed at Peace Will Be Staged Soon

The Festival of Nations, to be presented the first week in November in the Los Angeles Polytechnic High School auditorium, is arousing deep interest alike in Torrance schools, Women's Club, and churches. Leaders of these various groups look upon the coming production as an event that will create a favorable reaction in many countries, particularly those around the Pacific, and anticipate an interest that will demand its repetition year after year.

This year the Festival of Nations will picture Pacific neighbors—Japan, China, Russia, and Latin America. Leading artists from these countries will present scenes that will reveal the life of these people, their music, art, and achievements. In the Japanese cherry blossom scene will appear the Japanese prima donna, Madame Akane. Chinese actors will present a scene outside the Great Wall of China and will reveal the achievements and hopes of their people. The annual fair at Novgorod will be presented by the Russian group, which will include the famous baritone, Gromakovsky, the well known violinist Borowsky, the balalaika orchestra, and gypsy dancers. In the Latin-American scene will appear Madame Alma Real, Mexican prima donna; Miss Navarro, sister of Ramon Navarro; Countess de Besa, from Peru; and many others.

The Festival of Nations is being produced by the Council on International Relations, an organization that exists "to improve international and race relations by cultivating an understanding of the problems involved and an appreciation of the people of other nations and races." Dr. David Starr Jordan is the honorary president, and Dr. R. R. Von KleinSmid is president. Forty-six organizations are affiliated with the council, these representing education, religion, business, women's clubs, service clubs, and different nationalities.

Keystone Boy Is Awarded Honor by National Concern

Silas James Getz, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Getz of the Keystone tract, has just received his certificate of membership in the League of Curtis Salesmen, an honor organization maintained by the Curtis Publishing Company for boys who sell the company's periodicals.

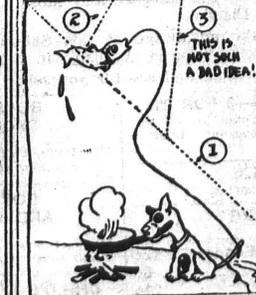

Admittance to this organization depends upon regular school attendance and a record of efficient service to customers. For the past three years Silas has been under the tutelage of his mother and made good progress, but since he has become a P. J. G. boy he has made great improvement in his school work.
The greatly enthused over his future education. He knows that the Curtis company will help him through college if he is short of funds. He is therefore going to do his very best as a Curtis salesman—he is determined to get another advancement soon. He is now a junior in the league. Only one boy in five gets this degree. His next advancement will be a senior.

Lillian Bowles In Recital at School Nov. 5

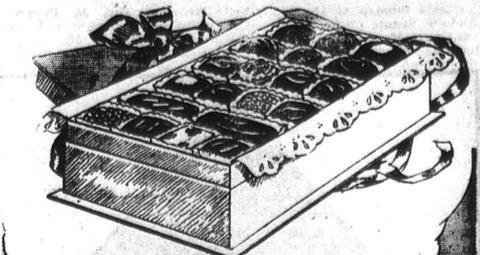

Noted Soprano Will Appear in Costume Event Here

Lillian Bowles, soprano, will appear in costume recital at Torrance High School Friday evening, Nov. 5. Miss Bowles is the possessor of one of the most strikingly beautiful lyric voices with decidedly dramatic tendencies. Her period costume recitals are a distinct departure from anything of the kind heretofore presented. Miss Bowles was the prima donna soprano with the Allied Grand Opera Company of New York, being associated with members of the Metropolitan Opera Company on tour. She has been identified with the musical life of New York city for some years, appearing with leading organizations throughout the country both in opera and concert.

NUMBER 18—the five hundred million dollar Water and Power Act—is the same measure that was defeated in 1922 by a majority of 353,894 and again in 1924 by a majority of 431,602.

The people of California do not want this measure. They have said so twice, in emphatic terms.

TO REMIND YOU

The Water and Power Act calls for a bond issue of five hundred million dollars.
This immense fund would be administered by five men—unknown and unnamed. Nothing in the measure states how, when or where the money shall be spent.
The Act provides that more bonds may be issued to pay interest on the first bonds, without consulting the electorate.
Deficits may be paid from general taxation.
The Board may enter any sort of business it wants to.
The money does not have to be deposited with the State Treasurer.
The money may be spent either within or without the State.
The scheme opens the doors for the formation of the greatest political machine the world has ever known.

IT ENDANGERS THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE BOULDER DAM. THE LEADERS IN THE MOVEMENT TO BUILD BOULDER DAM ARE AMONG THE MOST ENERGETIC WORKERS AGAINST THE WATER AND POWER ACT
